Middle School For 1969

The school board has proposed and is planning the building of a Middle School in order to eliminate the problem of overcrowded conditions in the Jr.-Sr. High School and Elementary Schools.

According to Dr. Albert Manerino, Supervising Principal:

A new building for 60 students by 1969 is a must if we are to avoid half day or split sessions. A Middle School for grades six, seven, and eight will relieve the overcrowded conditions in the Junior-Senior High School and also in the Elementary. This age group has similar growth and behavior patterns that will improve the present school organization.

The School Board and Administration are looking for a location for the building. It is hoped to build it in a place convenient to the high school's central location. They will also work together to evaluate bids and proposals by various contractors.

Three Positions Filled

Mr. F. P. Long Elementary Principal

Mr. Thomas R. Hawkins, Jr. Director of Instructional Services

ACTING ELEMENTARY PRINCIPAL, Mrs. Huldo Schultz, and Director of Instructional Services, Thomas Howkins, discuss the E.S.E.A. Title (I library funds for 1967-68, F. P. Long, Elementary Principal, was an subbatical leave this year.

Mr. Thomas Hawkins' title has been changed to Director of Instructional Services. He graduated from Slippery Rock State College and received his masters at the University of Pittsburgh and Indiana University of Pennsylvania. Mr. Hawkins will assist Dr. Manerino in several phases of administration in the school system. His duties include selecting instructional materials and coordinating instructional services, help in developing the budget, and recruiting teachers. His services have also involved sponsoring school publications and directing public relations.

Mr. F. P. Long is the elementary principal and coordinates the primary and intermediate schools. Recent work in the elementary schools have included an evaluation of the program and the development of new courses of studies. Mr. Long has taken a subattical leave during the 1966-67 school year to work on his doctorate. Mrs. Hulda Schultz has assumed his duties during his absence.

Though new positions have been created and filled, the ultimate goal of the educating of Mars students has remained the same. Working together on both major and minor details and issues, the administration encouraged learning and provided many opportunities for student and faculty development.

In Mars Administration

The 1967 school year filled three positions in the administration of Mars Area High School System. A new high school principal, assistant principal, and director of instructional services were all approved by the school board this year. Their positions have been assigned in order to improve the school system.

John D. Larson is now principal of Mars Area Junior-Senior High School. Prior to his appointment to this position, Mr. Larson served as principal at the Jersey Shore Junior High School near Lockhaven, Pennsylvania. Bucknell University, the University of Pennsylvania, Penn State, and the University of North Carolina were schools attended by the new principal. In the Naval Air Force Reserves, he holds the rank of Commander.

Arno Thompson, who previously served as Junior High Guidance Counselor, has been promoted to the job of assistant principal. His duties include keeping attendance records, scheduling student activities and athletic events, and also teaching psychology classes. Mr. Arno Thompson received his B.S. at Geneva College and his Masters at the University of Pittsburgh. He will continue to act as athletic director for Mars. Up to now he has taught social studies at Mars for over 20 years.

JOHN LARSON, PRINCIPAL, and Arna Thompson, Assistant Principal, discuss the nominations for the Midwestern Band and Chorus. Mr. Thompson is involved with developing the student activity and ethiotic programs.

Math Preparation for Future Data

Mr. Danold Clingensmith Algebra I and II. General Math

Mr. Norval Dunn 7th Grade Math

Mr. Edgar McGee Geometry, General Math

Mr. Ronald McGrady 8th Grade Moth

Mrs. Beverly Parr 7th Grade Math, General Math

Astronauts orbit the earth and computers solve scientific problems. These technological advances are abruptly changing our world so the mathematics department prepares students to understand these changes.

Algebra I and II provide a foundation for college-bound students in higher mathematics.

College Algebra and Trigonometry introduces new concepts to be used with the old.

Plane and solid geometry acquaints students with the various shapes in space.

Pre-calculus is a course designed for the advanced student preparing for college. It is planned that calculus will be taught in the near future.

Mrs. Margaret Gardner 9th Earth-Space Science

Mr. Renald Lux Phylics, Earth and Space

Mr. Joseph Mrocheck Brology

Mr. Alvin Murchison Chemistry

Mr. Clem Papik

To explain to a child the exactness of the universe, the wonder of birth, and the perfection of cell structure are the duties of a science teacher. In a school system, the job becomes specialized and takes on a definite form.

General science affords for students a basic foundation for learning. Another fundamental science, Earth and Space, was made more interesting with the purchase of a planetarium. It allows students to view the solar system.

Biology, taught in tenth grade, explains the functions of organisms. This year, a new program, known as the B.S.C.S., deals with the discoveries found through experimentation.

Physics illustrates basic concepts of matter and energy. It delves into such things as Einstein's theory and the laws of gravity.

Chemistry, studied in the senior year, explains to students the composition of matter. Combined with daily studies in the text book, laboratory work is conducted twice a week.

The field of the sciences is the most intriguing part of the interested student's academic years. To hear and understand, to see and comprehend, to experiment and succeed; all of these are primary goals set by the sciences.

CHEMISTRY EXPERIMENT is conducted by Chuck Scott in safety of the fume hood.

Social Studies Discuss Past

Mr. Marvin Gall 9th Pa. History, Civics

Mr. John Henicheck 8th Geography

Mrs. Judith Michaels American History

Mrs. Avonell Miles 8th American History

Miss Anne Peterson 7th Grade Early World History

Mr. Donald Princer World Cultures

To a social studies teacher, the all important goal is to prepare his students for the future. Not only does the teacher explain the racial problem, but he asks for reasonable answers for facing the crisis. Not only does he ask who is responsible for paying taxes, but he tells why the taxpayer carries these responsibilities. Not only does he convey many other figures and facts, but he relates them to the job of lifeliving. Through the courses connected with social studies, the teacher accomplishes his goals and guides his students into the future.

Mr. Richard Kemper Reading

Mrs. Lais Latshaw 12th English

Mr. James Lutz Speech, 7th English

Mrs. Sally Meler 7th English

Mrs. Carol Phillips 13th English

Miss Mary Young 8th English

The field of English deals with two basic ideas. First, grammar usage is taught to give students a foundation. It relates such things as punctuation and pronunciation. The second phase of English is literature which deals with poetry and prose.

As in most subjects, the seventh and eighth grades develop the foundation. Along with becoming familiar with authors, reading text books, and writing various papers, the junior high classes are supplemented with S.R.A. and various magazines.

S.R.A. is a plan in which reading speed and comprehension are improved.

In the freshmen through junior years, famous novels are included in the course. Great Expectations, A Tale of Two Cities, and Moby Dick are taught.

In the senior class, two new projects were undertaken. A humanities course was developed with the idea of delving into man's relationship with beauty, God, love, and truth. Accompanying this course is a weekly educational television program. Another senior program was a period designated to the study of composition. The composition course is designed by Dr. Edwin L. Peterson, a professor at the University of Pittsburgh.

Language Study Increased

Mrs. Marybelle Anderson

Mrs. Adelaide McLaughlin French

Mrs. Mary Preuss Sponish

Mr. James Charlton Special Education

The language department of Mars High works together to teach pupils the languages of Latin, French, and Spanish. Not only must a language be taught, but culture, history, and grammar are conveyed to the students.

In the present elective system, pupils have a choice in scheduling their language courses. They can take two years of a certain language and two years of another. Their other choice is to study one language for the entire high school career.

Mrs. Marybell Anderson, Latin teacher, is responsible for the two years of Latin. Although it is an ancient language, Latin customs and culture impressed the students. French, which was offered as a four year course, witnessed the first class to enter French IV. Mrs. Adelaide McLaughlin, French teacher, made plans in the latter part of the year to chaperone a trip to France in July, 1967. Accompaning her will be Mars students and young people from other schools.

Also affered for four years is Spanish. The course was made more interesting by pupils who had traveled to Spain or Mexico. Mrs. Mary Preuss was cooperating teacher for two student teachers during the second semester.

The languages, only a part of a daily routine, will one day serve in uniting the corners of the earth. In understanding, language benefits its students.

MRS. McLAUGHLIN finds 7th period French class exhausting, yet exciting.

Students Services

Mrs. Vide Hudson Librarian

Mrs. Ruth Leicht, Librarian

Mr. Gerold Dambach Jr. High Guldance

Mr Eugene Danser Sr. High Guidance

Services rendered by librarians and counselors are invaluable to students. Mr. Eugene Danser head of the senior high guidance department assists senior high students with plans for the future. Aside from individual interviews and scheduling, he directs testing throughout the year to determine intelligence, aptitude, achievement, and ability of the students.

Mr. Arno Thompson headed the junior high division for the early part of the year. He was later promoted to the position of assistant principal and Gerald Dambach assumed the responsibilities of this department. Mr. Dambach is kept busy lending a hand to junior high students who are as yet unsure of their abilities and aptitudes. He assisted students with scheduling and instructed freshman as to the required courses, and most valuable subjects for their sophmore year.

Under the direction of Mrs. Vida Hudson and Mrs. Ruth Leicht, the library services, a part of the instructional materials center, expanded to include a microfilm reader and a video tone recorder—an innovation in education. A study carrel was also added to the equipment which makes it possible for students to read or study in complete solitude. New books and magazines have been added to aid students in their quest for knowledge.

MR. DANSER GIVES advice to student concerning future plans.

Students Gain Work Experience

Miss Rito Aloe Bookkeeping, General Buziness

Mrs. Dorls Bowers Typing, Shorthand

Miss Nancy Kozak Shorthand II, Office Practice

Teaching and training in skills for the business world are the main objective of the business department at Mars Area High School. Shorthand, typing, and bookkeeping are among the courses offered to prepare students for future work in an office.

Modern machines and other office equipment are also available. A Multilith and Vari-Typer have been put into operation at Mars High this year. Eventually the training will include art layouts, paste-up, photography, and process printing. With the operation of these machines, it will enable the faculty to achieve a wider range of communication techniques.

Faculty members also offer suggestions for Individual personality and appearance improvements which are valuable to the students.

Another important addition to the commercial student is on the job training. Under this program, worthy senior girls are chosen to work at various local companies for a period of nine weeks. During this time, the girls gain experience with on-the-job training plus a hint of what is to be expected in future careers.

INTENSE CONCENTRATION is an important part of typing training.

Creative Ability Encouraged

Miss Barbara Morgan Vocal Music

Mr. Marvin Clay

Mrs. Sandra Towle

Mr. William Townsend Instrumental Music

Art and music are the unconquerable instruments for readily exposing emotions and for showing the inner-most personality of a human-being. They are the unique fundamentals for a sought-after release.

Miss Barbara Morgan entered our music department this year and immediately undertook the initial task of choosing and instructing the young voices of the junior high and Performing Choruses. Her extra instructing talents lent themselves to her work with the Double Dozen, an ensemble of 24 girls who displayed their singing in various programs such as those held at Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter.

With Mr. William Townsend as their director, the Varsity Band marched their way to success at half-time shows and community parades. Their music generated school spirit.

Looking into the art or crafts room, you're sure to see a busy scene as students work diligently at painting portraits, detailed scenic portrayals or still-lifes; forming pottery, hammering a wood project or making jewelry. Mr. Marvin Clay, crafts teacher, and Miss Sandra Towle, art teacher, were the helping agents to these students. The instructors give the students a chance to learn by experience.

Industrial Arts Department

Mr. Wayne Magness Electricity, Plastics

Mr. Adom Ryner Woodshop

Mr. Paul Smith Mechanical Drawing, Metal Shop

Creative ability and skill is developed within the Industrial Arts Department. Students develop manual dexterity and learn the use of basic and advanced tools in metal, plastic, wood, and electric shops.

Wood shop is required for all seventh grade boys. These students are taught safety precautions and the use of land tools. Proceeding on their way, boys advance to the use of more complex apparatus such as drill press, mortising machines, and jig saw.

Plastic shop allows the freshman boys to express their artistic and creative abilities making desk sets, ash trays, and candy dishes.

The principles of electricity are explained in electric shop and projects include lamps and small hand engraving machines.

Proper methods and concern for safety is stressed with all students. Instructors give lectures and demonstrations in order to familiarize the boys with each individual machine and its operation.

Primary goal of the industrial arts is to introduce the students to the trade skills which may be useful in the home or in the selection of a vocational field.

BOYS GAIN valuable experience in metal shop.

Drivers Ed and Home Economics

Mrs. Lois Bost Home Economics

Mrs. Rebecca Cross Home Economics

Mr. Edmund Skecon Driver's Education

Home Economics and Driver Education are two courses incorporated in the curriculum to aid students in the present and future.

Home Economics educates girls in two ways. Under the direction of Mrs. Lois Best, the girls learn the art of cooking. They start with small simple cookies and work up to entire meals. Mrs. Rebecca Cress, sewing instructor, teaches the girls to read a pattern, cut out the pieces, and sew together the final product. Upon leaving the class, the students are prepared to tackle jobs at home connected with cooking and sewing. Not only would this be of benefit now, but it would serve to equip these girls in coping with these problems in their own homes.

Driver Education, unlike Home Economics, is offered to both boys and girls. In the classroom, movies and text material are presented to teach driving rules, and regulations. The second phase of this course is actual driving done by the students in a car owned by the school. This automobile enables students to take driving tests at the Butler Police Barracks. After passing this test, they hold a driver's license and have an understanding of the responsibility that accompanies it.

REPRESENTATIVE FROM STANLEY GRAY hands over the keys of the new drivers education our.

Physical Education

Miss Carol De Venzio Phys. Ed., Health

Miss Marcla Semple Phys. Ed., Health

Mr. Paul Douds Phys. Ed., Health

Mr. Michael Crist Phys. Ed. Health

Mrs. Jean Hammond Name and School Visitor

A sound and strong body must be the forerunner of a studious person. He is incapable of doing his best if he is in a poor physical state.

Health, taught in the eighth and twelfth grades, teaches students the means to acquire and maintain a healthy body. Miss Carol De Venzio and Miss Marcia Semple, girls' health teachers, use such devices as movies, demonstrations, and a text book to accomplish their goals. Using the same devices are Mr. Michael Crist and Mr. Paul Douds.

The importance of exercise, expressed in the health classes, is made possible in the gym classes. The gym instructors, those same people who teach health, divide the year's curriculum into several phases. They designate certain periods of time to hockey, basketball, badminton, and work on apparatus. The early autumn and late spring afford an opportunity for students to exercise out of doors.

Mrs. Jean Hammond has accepted the responsibility of Home and School Visitor. Her duties include organizing absentees and notifying the parents of truant students. These students are then duly punished.

PHYSICAL FITNESS is a necessary part of the students total well-being.

Pittsburgh disc jockey, Porky Chedwick, spun records at the "Kiwi Dance" sponsored by the Student Council to honor A.F.S. student Rachel Selby this fall. A giant kiwi, the national bird in Rachel's home New Zealand, provided the theme for the festive decorations. The paper-mache bird was autographed by all those who attended the dance.

American Field Service stock was sold by the council, and an A.F.S. Club was organized under its auspices. The club worked to raise money which would bring another exchange student to Mars next year and send a Mars student to a foreign nation.

At Christmas, the council sponsored a drive to send gifts to U.S. servicemen in Viet Nam. Small items such as stationery, pens and toothpaste were donated by the students. A holiday tree was decorated in the main hall and presents from various clubs were given to our foreign exchange student.

Student Council also sponsored buses to away football games, and reopened the student store. The council sold decals which carried the Planets emblem in blue and gold. after the sale, decals were found on book covers, automobiles, and notebooks.

Elections were held in the spring to choose a new council for the coming year.

N.H.S. Encourages Scholarship

Tim is a new member of the National Honor Society. He must possess all the qualities that are necessary for membership in this group. Character: Tim is dependable. Scholarship: His grades are consistently good. Leadership: Tim is vice-president of his class. Service: He is quarterback on the varsity football team. Tim is a typical N.H.S. member. He attends monthly meetings and other activities.

This year members tried to encourage scholarship in both the junior and senior high school. Seniors, juniors, and sophomores worked on committees to plan and conduct honors programs in which students with a 3.0 average or higher were rewarded with honors cards. Both humarous skits and serious speeches were a part of the assemblies.

In January, pins carrying the national emblem of the Honor Society were issued to members of the organization. These pins also became a part of the annual initiation in February. The initiates, those possessing the four necessary qualities, were handed flaming candles and to them was given the eversignificant pin.

Plans by the seniors for speeches and stage settings for their commencement closed the year.

LATIN STUDENTS enjoy feast at Latin banquet.

Language clubs were busy at Mars Area High School, encouraging education and promoting social activities with an international flavor. Guest speakers, parties, dinners, and initiations were held by all the groups in an effort to stimulate interest in the languages of French, Spanish, and Latin.

Dressed in ancient Roman attire, members of the Latin Club joined in January for the traditional Latin Banquet. Following the feast, students were entertained by gladiatorial combat. Monthly meetings were held, and plans were made for future activities.

The newly reorganized French Club held its annual initiation in early October at North Park. A picnic lunch and candlelight ceremony provided a mixed atmosphere. A skating party after Christmas was another of the many activities enjoyed by the members. Dale Schnur, Physics teacher, told the club of his experiences in France during his service in the armed forces. Slides of typical French scenes were also shown to the group.

Several members of the Spanish Club visited Mexico and Spain during the past summer and they shared these experiences with other club members at the regular meetings. Other guest speakers from Argentina, Mexico, and Spain gave talks on their respective countries.

The Future Business Leaders of America demonstrated their salesmanship by selling holiday novelties to other students at Christmas time. Organization of sales and profits resulted from studies of bookkeeping and accounting.

In the spring several of the business students were chosen to enter subject skills tests to recognize exceptional students.

A bell rang. A door closed. Members of The Future Teachers of America began to conduct classes for Student Teaching Day. These were hearts that beat faster as the "teachers" watched for reactions to their carefully planned lessons.

The group also visited a school for retarded children to gain more knowledge in how to get along with unstable students.

The wearing of the crisp white uniform and cap is the aspiration and hope of each member of the Future Nurses of America Club. They all dream of becoming R.N.'s walking the hospital corridors and bringing knowledge, understanding and cheer to everyone. The club hopes to inspire these virtues by monthly films, talks presented by candystripers, and hospital tours.

Chess Club

For the Chess Club, even a few extra minutes can be occupied with a trying game of chess. Although the members gain much experience in the form of weekly meetings and monthly tournaments, their advisor, Mr. Alvin Murchison, encourages time spent playing on their own. Membership this year has increased and has made the Chess Club a great success and a challenge.

1967 Planet Offers

EDITORS, Pat Versaw and Bannie Franceschina, discuss theme of "Reflections" with advisor, Mr. Hawkins.

A boy with a camera snaps on action shot at the football game. A girl sells an advertisement to the local merchant on the corner. Three editors work on into the evening, preparing new copy. All of these people are responsible for the publication of the 1967 Planet.

"Reflections of the Past," the theme of the yearbook, was emphasized with memorable photographs, reminiscent write-ups, and page lay outs.

Keeping this theme in mind, the staff worked faithfully in order to produce a good yearbook. Junior and senior staff members worked together, accepting financial responsibility, offering constructive criticism, and profiting from these experiences.

A new staff was chosen in May of 1966, and the group immediately began the '67 edition. Past experience coupled with fresh ideas produced growing efficiency in the field of journalism.

Serving as a valuable incentive, the '66 Planet received a first class rating from the National Scholastic Press Association, and several senior staff members were inducted into the National Quili & Scroll Society.

"Planet Dust"

"Type this article for final copy." "Get the basketball team ready for the picture in the gym." "Don't forget to interview the new teacher." These were but a few of the commands that echoed round the editor's desk in the newspaper office throughout the year.

Members of the Planet Dust staff gained invaluable experience in the field of journalism as they hurried to meet monthly deadlines, prepared news releases for the Butler Eagle, Middlesex Manitor, and Butler County News Record; and attended various journalism conferences.

Pat Versaw and Amy Eichner served as co-editorsin-chief, and helped instruct the cub reporters in the basic steps for writing news, features, sports, and editorials. Richard Emerson, a journalism major from Penn State University, offered a fresh point of view from his position of associate teacher to the advisors, Paul Aley and Thomas Hawkins.

The class, which is offered as an elective course to students in the senior high, did not confine its work to the monthly issues of the Planet Dust. During the year, "flyers" and "extras" were sent out to inform students of many upcoming activities.

Journalism students are just becoming involved in Quill and Scroll. Five charter members, journalism students, were nominated and accepted into the national journalistic society.

Sr. High Art

Using the natural resources of interested and enthusiastic young members, the Sr. High Art Club ended its first year with many accomplishments behind them. Not only did they work diligently all year on individual projects, but they also gave partial spansorship to an art show open to the whole school. Included in this show, were their own works plus exceptional projects done by other students.

World Affairs

Studying the problems facing modern society is the primary function of the World Affairs Club. Crises around the globe were discussed and possible solutions were suggested by the members.

Gaining valuable experience, the students hoped to better understand and solve their own personal conflicts. This club took the place of last year's Human Relations Club.

In this era of rockets, missles, outer-space exploration and Gemini space trips, it's easy to see why a spark of interest initiated a club this year.

Library Aides

Repairing damaged books, checking library cards and files, and assisting students and teachers with research—these are the main responsibilities of a typical Library Aide.

Another activity of the groups was the Christmas tea sponsored for the faculty. Holiday candles and table decorations set the mood for this annual affair.

Photography Club

The members of the Photography Club are found attending meetings, learning techniques, or simply strolling the halls; cameras set for the right time and place. Catching people in the act of being themselves is their chief aim. Their pictures brighten pages of local and school newspapers and yearbook and capture the treasured moments of high school life.

Stage Crew Busy Behind Scenes

STAGE CREW works on when everyone also is gone.

A can of red paint, a saw, a hammer and nails, and a lot of determination—these are but a few of the many tools that the Stage Crew uses to build sets for the theatrical productions in the school.

Some 850 hours went into the building of the warehouse that was the home of the Otto Frank family in the senior class play, "The Diary of Anne Frank."

The creaking doors and magning windows of a haunted house provided an errie atmosphere for the faculty presentation of "The Blue Ghost."

The building of sets is not the only phase of the theater with which the Stage Crew is concerned. The group is on duty at all school productions, working with curtains and lighting, offering help to the cast whenever necessary.

The female members of the group joined together to make outfits for themselves to be worn whenever they are working on stage.

Sound effects, complicated lighting, and elaborate stage properties all contributed in making the presentations more realistic, while the group profited from the experience of working together as a team for a common goal.

Students involved in this activity will never forget the long, hard hours constructing sets and the time spent backstage during the actual productions. These experiences are bound to be an asset in their lives.

To enable all interested students to become part of the American Field Service is the objective of the new A.F.S. Club. The group was organized under the guidance of the Student Council, and its activities include stock sales of International Day. This group also welcomed Amy Alegria from the Philippines who entered the school in February.

Quill & Scroll

Promoting interest and encouraging study in the field of journalism is the primary goal of the members of the newly-formed Quill & Scroll Society. This club is open to students who have performed some exceptional work on either the yearbook or newspaper staff. These students must also be approved by the national committee of the organization.

DOUBLE DOZEN practices diligently, prepares for a performance.

Singing its way right into the heart of the community, the girls, ensemble, called the Dauble Dazen, presented songs at both Christmas and spring concerts. Under the direction of Miss Barbara Morgan, the group practiced regulary after school.

"Angels We Have Heard On High," "What Child Is This," and "Bring a Torch" were blended in an usual medly that was sung at a holiday program on December 18. More Christmas cheer was spread when the girls visited Saint John's Lutheran Home to sing carols for the aged people living there. Their repertoire included such songs as "The Little Pine Tree" and "A Lullabye For Christmas Eve."

In April, the ensemble combined treasured old folk songs of the past with popular new favorites of the present. The girls sang "Everybody Loves Saturday Night" in four languages—English, French, German, and Spanish.

Chorus Presents Spring Concert

A group of students attired in navy robes hold one talent in common. All can sing well and as a result of this, are members of the Performing Chorus.

The voices of these young people rang through the halls each day during sixth period. At this time, Miss Barbara Morgan, director of the chorus, taught and reviewed a selection of songs. The musical pieces were chosen with the intention of expressing some theme through a blend of voices.

PERFORMING CHORUS PRESENTS holiday songs in Christman Program.

Resulting from the efforts of this group, came several concerts. The Christmas season was highlighted by two performances. One was an assembly presented to the student body, and the second was a concert for the community.

In the spring the Performing Chorus presented avery patriotic assembly. Such selections as the Battle Hymn of the Republic and songs from the Fiddler were used.

"Diary of Anne Frank"

FAMILY STARES wonderingly as Mr. Dussel enters

The house lights dimmed. The audience grew hushed, and an anxious stage manager held a tiny blue book around which the play would revolve. "The Diary of Anne Frank" was presented by the senior class on November 17 and 18, and the cast performed to a capacity audience.

The cast, directed by Mr. James Lutz, portrayed two jewish families that were caught in the terror of World War II. The Franks and the VanDans lived in hiding for almost two years, praying for the end of the war. Finally, however, they were caught by the German police and sent to concentration camps. Mr. Frank was the only member of the group to survive. An elaborate set provided the final touch of reality to the production.

JACK AND KITTY discuss their situation.

Directed by James Lutz, the Junior Class presented "Charley's Aunt" on March 30 and 31. The three act comedy revolves around the romances of three British gentlemen, Jack Chesney, Charley Wykeham, and Lord Fancourt Babberley. Chesney and Wykeham invite Kitty Verdun and Amy Spettigue to their home on the pretense of meeting Charley's aunt, a rich widow whom he has never met. When she fails to arrive they persuade Babberley to don a costume and take her place. The fun begins when both the girls' uncle and Chesney's father decide to romantically pursue Babberley. Later Charley's real aunt arrives and Babberley reveals himself, bringing an end to the frantic and hilarious plot. A simple set of black and white contrasted the elaborate costumes worn by the cast.

1967 BAND OFFICERS are: H. Mazuch, president; F. Hammack, vice president; C. Fisher, secretary and E. Cunninghon, treasurer.

This year the band grew in musical maturity under the able leadership of William Townsend. Many new routines and formations were mastered as a result of long hours on the practice field. New uniforms in a smart military style were worn for the first time this year. This seemed to heighten morale and make the band members work harder to give a good show. As a reward for their loyalty to the band, seniors were given sweaters with the official band emblem.

When the football games and half-time shows were over, this group of musicians gave a concert during December. This musical performance was given to the community as a Christmas gift. Continuing the annual tradition of a spring concert, the band gave a performance in April.

Aside from all the work they also had their share of fun and games. A semi-formal dance with the theme "Blue Hawaii" was held in March. Decorations and refreshments created a Hawaiian theme. Included with fun, who could ever forget the exciting bus rides to the football games?

The bright flickers of flaming batons cast dark graceful shadows on the dimmed football field. The band was there playing, but all eyes rested upon the dazzling feature of the halftime show. Nine girls displayed talents that were new and exciting with the addition of fire routines.

Crowds thrilled were at both home and away games as the girls performed lively new dance steps to such popular songs as "The Lonely Bull," "Batman," and "The Theme From Peter Gunn."

Sally Fyke, head majorette, increased her skill by attending a two-week twirling and dance routine course at Smith-Waldrige College; Indiana; and Sally demonstrated this skill in baton solos.

At weekly practices Sally and her assistant head majorette, Debbie Hays, instructed the other girls in the routines that were performed.

Janice Fritz served as drum majorette and led the Varsity Blue and Gold Band in many half-time exhibitions and parades throughout the area.

All of the girls, attired in their new uniforms, contributed to the pride and the spirit of the entire student body with the poise and personality they develop from being an display to all.

MARCY TRUESDELL crowned '66 football queen.

G. A. A.

Any girl capable of combining school work, activities, sports, and athletic events was eligible to become a member of the Girls Athletic Association. She attended monthly meetings along with social events.

"The Road to Hong Kong" provided the theme for the annual G.A.A. dance. Magnolia trees and oriental gardens decorated the cafeteria and transformed it into a faraway ballroom for the occasion.

Marcy Truesdell, captain of the varsity cheerleaders, was crowned football queen by the tricaptains, Chuck Clark, Tom Hawkins, and John Ivancic. Marcy was chosen by the Planet grid team at the close of the season.

The Girls Athletic Association also planned a play day at a neighboring high school. Girls made use of the facilities for physical education and met many students from other area schools.

G.A.A. members also offered their services as they served as coaches for intramurals. In January the group selected delegates to participate in the "Play Day" held at Knoch High,

Girls' Varsity

Operating the refreshment stand at several of the football games was one of the most important activities of the Girl's Varsity Club. The money earned from this project was contributed to the athletic fund.

Varsity sweaters were purchased with money earned from a bake sale. The girls also attended a professional basketball game in March.

Boys' Varsity

Encouraging participation in varsity athletics was one of the objectives of the Boy's Varsity Club. Sportsmanship and team spirit were promoted.

Activities included a spring car wash to raise money for the purchase of letters and sweaters for members, and a banquet to ward honors to deserving athletes.

Who can describe the cheerleaders? What words could ever express their loyal and endless spirit, their hard and invigorating work as a team, or their tears cried in victory or defeat? The cheerleading squad isn't made up of just girls, but of girls who are the possessors of a special something that makes them stand-out at pep railies and games. Lead by Senior Captain, Marcy Truesdell, they are always learning new cheers and attending several practices a week. Always supporting their school, the ten girls can usually by found right in the center of the whirl of activities the school provides. Yes, our cheerleaders are much more than just girls, they're winners. Winners to match our basketball team.

The energetic junior high cheerleaders spurred their team on to an unprecedented amount of victories this season. This group, with their bright cheery faces and colorful uniforms symbolized the vivacity of the entire junior high student body.

These girls cheer at both football and basketball games and varsity pep rallies. The girls also sold programs at the home games to help support their organization. They planned their won pep assemblies, and helped sponsor student busses to the major games of the season. Together with the varsity squad, they promote a great volume of school spirit. With diligent practice, these girls may some day become full-fledged varsity cheerleaders.

Jr. High Student Council

Under the direction of Arno Thompson, the Junior High Student Council was taught some of the basic concepts of self-government. They used these rules in their meetings each Tuesday. The basics were expanded upon to yield the final product of a working body.

The members of the council gained valuable experience by making decisions for their fellow classmates. Leadership qualities were exhibited and personalities matured while developing a sense of responsibility. By having the privilege of making these decisions they also gained the practice of making wise judgements.

The Junior High Student Council had as some of its activities the student buses to junior high games to increase spirit and encourage support of the winning football and basketball teams. They also cooperated with the Senior High Student Council in A.F.S. stock sales and dances. The group worked in order to prepare themselves for assuming the work of the Senior Council, a responsibility to be faced in the future.

Jr. H. Art

The Junior High Art Club, which was organized to promote interest in art, prospered this year. The club members were guided in projects as sketching people and objects in the world around them and carving animals from bars of soap. The group attended regularly scheduled meetings under direction of Mr. Clay and Mrs. Towle.

Jr. High Chorus

STUDENTS PRACTICE A new number for the next performance.

A group of small round faces stand in orderly rows on the stage, together they await the moment when the curtain will rise. The moment comes; the group awaits instruction from their director, Miss Barbara Morgan.

Preparing themselves for future as the leading choral unit of the school, the Junior High Chorus has practiced constantly to measure up to the standards, of the Senior High Performing Chorus. They demonstrated their specially planned assemblies and at holiday programs. The Junior High Chorus is composed of students from seventh, eighth and ninth grade who are interested in music. They must be willing to discipline themselves and learn to make use of any talent they might have. Also, these students, who are just becoming aware of todays modern music, must learn to appreciate music which is pleasing to all. This group participated in a Christmas Assembly.

The Spring Concert provided the group with an opportunity to demonstrate their dancing ability with a routine, "Once in Love With Amy." The girls of the charus joined together to sing "Moonglow." "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" was sung by both the Junior and Senior High Charus as the closing selection.

Cadet Band and Orchestra

The members of the Cadet Band have a common aspiration; they all hope to become varsity band members. Under the direction of Mr. Townsend, members attended sectional rehearsals to improve the quality of their music. The young cadets gained experience by playing at junior high pep rallies and a Christmas assembly program.

A spark of interest grew steadily into reality as the orchestra came into being under the direction of Mr. Clarence Ebner. Musically inclined students joined this group of talent, perhaps hoping someday to become famous concert musicians. This year they participated in the Christmas program and Spring Band Concert.

Season Summary

For the first time in eleven years the Mars High Planets romped over their arch rival Knoch for their first win of the season. A series of injuries hampered the team throughout the season. First Clark was out with a leg injury then Hawkins suffered a knee injury. In the middle of the season members of the team suffered from staphylococcus infection. Recovering from these misfortunes the Planets finished with a record 3 wins and 5 loses.

Mars Varsity Game Resume

CENTER (0-1) won; The Planets originally lost the Center game by a score of 6-26. Center had to forfeit the game because they were using ineligible players. Lambert made our only touchdown by stealing the ball and running 86 yards.

OAKMONT (33-6) lost; Mars was actually slaughtered by Oakmont. In the second quarter Clark headed for the shower room with a badly injured knee. Belliveau took to the air and handled the passing.

SOUTH SIDE (7-7); The Planets failed to capitalize on several scoring opportunities in the second half so they had to settle for a come-from-behind tie. The only point scored by Mars was a result of a 60 yard drive with Flukas scoring the extra point.

EAST DEER (24-13) lost; The Planets had their work cut out for them in holding back East Deer. When the second half rolled around Mars was in high spirits but they just couldn't seem to muster enough effort to score.

HAMPTON (41-19) lost; For awhile it looked like the Planets home opener was going to be a good game. The first two plays, both returns on kick-offs, went for long touch-downs. Mars ran out of gas on the second half.

KNOCH (12-0) won, The Planets were victorious when they met their winless rival, Knoch. The first Mars score was the result of a 78 yard run back of a Knoch fumble. Ivancic was said to have played his best game against this team.

BELLEVUE (39-6) lost; Undefeated Bellevue added Mars to its list of victims. It came close to being a completely scoreless evening for the Planets until halfback Flukas put Mars on the board by racing 55 yards for a touchdown.

RICHLAND (51-0) lost, Richland had little trouble as they ran roughshod over their hosts before a capacity crowd. Both offensively and defensively it was all Richland as the Rams forced Mars to fumble six times, recovering all six, and intercepting three errant Planet passes.

WESTERN BEAVER (20-0) won; Western Beaver Just couldn't get going against Mars. The make-up game was played in a freezing rain while the teams skidded and slopped on the homefield.

Season Summary

The Mars Junior Varsity football team won three out of six of their games during the 1966 season. Offensively Bob Flukas, Andy McAuley and Don Dolan kept possession of the ball. Dave Kiley made a first in junior varsity football by kicking extra points in field goals. The team showed a lot of prospective talent for the next years varsity squad.

Season Summary

VARSITY BASKETBALL

The Mars Planets posted a 9-3 record, finishing second only to the Knoch Knights in section play. The team scored a total of 1,612 points while holding its opponent to 1,238.

Chuck Clark, Planet captain, served as playmaker for the team. Chuck was unable to finish the season because of an injured knee that required an operation following the Knoch game.

Don Stevenson, senior center on the team scored second highest on the team with 105 field goals.

Dave Burk led in both the field goal and free throw departments, scoring a total of 412 points.

Greg Czech, senior forward, ranked second in free throw, making 79 from the foul line.

Clyde Weller, another returning letterman, completed his second year on the varsity squad.

Jerry Aiken, Doug Pell, and Jim Hoffman are the three remaining seniors who played varsity basketball this year.

Season Summary

Bouncing back from a disappointing 1966 season, the Planets proved themselves to be worthy opponents to any team in their section. The team was composed of both Juniors and seniors who worked together to produce an impressive 19-5 record.

With long hours of practice, the boys learned the skills of passing, dribbling, and shooting. Team cooperation was a key element in the victorious campaign.

School spirit was another factor that contributed to the Planets' success. Thousands of students jammed the gymnasium to watch as Mars defeated rival Richland and suffered heart-breaking at the hands of Knoch.

Injuries were no problem with the exception of an injured knee that required hospitalization for captain Chuck Clark.

Prospects for next year are good since the Planets will have seven juniors returning with varsity experience.

Season Summary

The Junior Varsity Basketball team succeed in emerging from the season with 19 wins out of a possible 22. Also, as a second major victory, they won 12 league games, ira Baumgartel, sophomore, was high-scorer with a total of 186 points. Following close behind were Dave Covert, sophomore, with 175, Bob Flukas, also a sophomore, with 173, and Jim Knauff, junior, with 153. Leader in the field goal percentage was junior Dave Kiley. Dave also scored an 88% for free throws. Thus ended the Junior Varsity's 1966-67 basketball season. Their overall total of 1,344 points and a 37% in field goals and 52% in free throws showed them to be a great team coached by Edmund Skacan.

JIM KNAUFF pushes straight up for two points.

Invitational Meet

Track Summary

Last year's track squad posted a record of two wins and eight losses in duel meet competition. The team also placed second in the A.I.C. meet and first in the Mors Invitational.

In the W.P.I.A.L. Qualifier, the squad placed 13 boys. Of these boys, Dave Brailey came in fifth in the 220 and Don Campbell placed third in the high jump.

Returning senior lettermen this year are: Dave Brailey (100, 220), Randy Ross (880, mile), Jim Hoffman (pole vault, discus, broad jump), Bruce McKelvy (discus), Paul Fowler (javelin), Jack Reitz (hurdles), Doug Pell (high jump), and Greg Czech (shot, javelin).

Junior lettermen are: Dave Kiley (100, 220), Don Campbell (high jump, triple jump, broad jump), Jim Hammond (broad jump, triple jump), and Martin Norris (2 mile).

Other members of the team include: Al Greynolds, Dave Covert, Pat Norris, Jim Giallombardo, Greg Puskas, Larry Lawson, Ralph Byers, and Bob Truesdell.

Another invitational track meet was held with Mars, Knoch, Laurel, Western Beaver, Appolo, and Slippery Rock high schools competing.

JIM HOFFMAN cringes as he tries to sauser enough power to clear the pole vools.

RANDY ROSS and Dave Corest push forward, arged on by members of the coaching staff.

Experience and Determination

WITH A GREAT YELL, Bruce McKelvy toxes the discus into the air.

PAUL POWLER THROWS the joylin as his fellow team-mates look on.

DAVE CAMPBELL WATCHES as his twin brother, Don, clears the high jump.

CROSS COUNTRY

The Mars Cross Country team gained valuable experience in this, its first year of competition. The sport involves the running of a two to three mile course, which traverses an area near the school. This course is designed to include all phases of the terrain. The competition is based on the time a team member takes to cover the designated distance. This year's team witnessed three defeats, but won a match with Seneca Valley High School. Although their season was not extremely successful, the boys worked together with hopes for a winning 1967 season.

CLASSES

Football and basketball programs, a stack of dogearred papers, a prom corsage, a set of report cards, a diploma, and a bundle of fond memories—these are the souvenirs of a senior. For each, the symbolism and feelings are different, but they reflect an all important year.

Mars seniors witnessed the breaking of a basket-ball record, the Kiwi dance, P.O.D., English, and health classes, the trips to see "Macbeth" and "The Bible," and the many after school meetings. The results of these incidents are quite varied. Many seniors strive to secure higher education. From these students, mankind will receive educators, doctors, lawyers, and a multitude of professional people. Other seniors will choose to enlist in the service of their country. From these people will came the fighters for our cause and the military leaders of the world. Seniors who desire to secure employment will provide for the neverending cycle of supply and demand.

This years seniors are going out into a modern, rapidly changing world. They will spend the rest of their lives attempting to catch up and adjusting to their surroundings.

All of these young people are now preparing to take their places in the adult world of tomorrow. These are the seniors of 1967.

JUNIORS HELP to make the Haliday bright for the boys in Viet Nam.

Starting anew from a mixed-up sophomore year, the class of 1968 launched a program to revive class spirit. Early in the year, juniors held a Mod dance. During December, the class sponsored a project to send small gifts to servicemen in Viet Nam.

Much leadership was to be found in the junior class. Sally Fyke led the majorettes in sparkling halftime shows, while Barbara Cimador cheered the Planet team on to victory. Roger Bole represented Mars in the Butler County Chorus Festival, and Bill Marshall was chosen as a semi-finalist for the Americans Abroad Program. These students, with many others, showed the ability of a junior.

But they were scholastically minded, too. College bound students took the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Tests and the College Boards. These students also investigated universities, business institutions, and nursing schools.

As the junior class reflects on the past, they will have many warm and important memories to share. Now, on with the future and that "oh so close" senior year.

Sophomores Plan For Future

The class of 1969 has been busy academically, socially, and athletically throughout the year.

Honors cards were awarded to them at the honors programs, and many of the class members began to investigate colleges and universities.

Christmas was celebrated by the sophmores in mid December, when they sponsored their first party of the school year. The Triads, a student musical group, provided entertainment for the get-together.

Sophmore boys gained valuable experience playing both varsity and junior varsity football. The boys were also a part of the victorious Planet cage team.

Both creative and intellectual achievements have been noted in the "Class of '69"; but more important, they appear to have all the qualities for leaders of tomorrow.

Freshmen Make Plans

The freshmen, no longer children, but not yet adults, have been caught up in the exciting world of high school life; and each member of the "class of '70" exemplifies this image.

Decisions must be made for the first time concerning curriculum. Courses are chosen to plan for the future. And there is a wide variety of foreign languages, sciences and mathametics to meet the individual needs of each student.

Widely varied studies and activities both contribute to make the freshmen the people needed in the fast-changing world of today.

Eighth Graders

EIGHTH GRADE OFFICERS: Robert Jennings, President; Jeffrey Trefry, Secretory; Dwight Johnston, Treasurer; Gary Basilane, Vice President.

GOOD DANCING, but where are the boys?

The eighth graders have experienced many varied situations that will be part of memory's picture book for years to come. Everywhere you chance to look, you find a picture, a phrase, a word that reffects many treasured moments.

There's Carol, leading the junior high cheerleaders in a breathless and enthusiastic cheer. And isn't that the ever-faithful crowd of eighth graders supporting their first dance of the year? To look at Bill, you can easily understand why he is the best athlete that the class of '71 possesses. And Janie, Linda, and Barbara always seem to be heading one committee or another.

Aside from the social and athletic aspects of school life, the eighth graders are also busy scholastically. N.H.S. honors assemblies always find many members of the class appearing on stage to receive recognition for scholastic achievement. Studying geography in Mr. Henichek's class or making sketches in mechanical drawing, the class of 71 holds in its grasp, great potential in ability and skill.

This is a class that will forever have memories to cherish in the future.

Seventh Grade Welcomes New Teachers

SEVENTH GRADE OFFICERS: Gray Weller, President; Joe Johnston, Treasurer; Linda Woodside, Vice President; Beverly Dunbar, Secretary.

A maze of scrambled halls, lockers that sometimes refuse to open, and a seemingly enormous student body. These are but a few of the many new experiences that face the seventh graders as they begin junior high school. All of these things are strange and a bit frightening but as the weeks pass, they become familiar. The halls gradually unscramble, the lockers open with ease, and the students become acquainted with one another.

Along with new studies at Mars, came many new teachers. Mrs. Beverly Paar and Anne Peterson are new instructors in the fields of math and history, respectively. Participation in band, football, and basketball all are another new facet being introduced to the class of 1972.

With a year behind them, the seventh Graders are now ready to accept new responsibility that will enrich their high school career.

How can Dever thank you for just Mike, listening to me. Ove really appricated it. How I must born you. I'm really, sorry. Remember all the great times we me had. I really enjoyed myself knowing you. Pittsburgh will never be the same. your adarling girl, a prefect young lady, great personality, smart, witty, good cook. HALSTEAD METAL PROBUCTS, 9NGCC. I know if you schould get married you would make a very good wife too But I hop METAL TUBINGedge a break. I'm so mad. I've lived hen for · a little mon than two years and it takes a frankfushing leaving.

I can't tell you How much dive enjoyed knowing you. thanksagain for listening. But I just didn't turn Marty on. Lood luck in future years. I know no matter what you do you will eskell. . Good buck with your driving. Doney live down the street don't play stranger. Write to. your just rarlingand a great friend
